An inspection of the winter wheat crop made by Chas. Arnold shows that all the wheat sown prior to two days before the recent rains is coming up well. It is possible, he says, that what was sown just before the rains may have become so soaked that it will not before it can sprout. There will be at least a twenty-five per cent crop, if there is no more damage done, Mr. Arnold estimates.

Lee Bros. bought 35 head of horses and mules in Fulton Monday.

Wood Muir, near Hutton, recently bought seven mare mules, from Rood Kelsick, of Readsville.

Herbert Clatterback, of Guthrie, sold a five-year-old mare, Monday, to Lee Brothers, of Mexico, for $112.50.—Fulton Gazette.

Nolan Huddleston, of Auxvasse, paid $145 for a four-year-old horse made that he bought Monday from R. V. Martin, west of Carrington.

L. C. Williamson, of the McCordie firm of Williamson & Vivion, bought a load of foaling mules at Blackwater, Cooper county, Saturday, and will get them home Thursday. He bought 34 head last week from J. B. Rutter, of Mexico, and altogether the firm now has 115 animals on fattening rations.—Fulton Gazette.

C. T. Thomason, a Nine Mile Prairie farmer, sold a pair of cotton mules Saturday to Buckner & Brett, of Auxvasse, for $250.

All honors for topping the steer market Tuesday were awarded to Judge C. C. Bledsoe of Audrain county, Mo., who two weeks ago Tuesday sold two cars of steers from his own feed lots at the top. His consignment on the St. Louis market Tuesday comprised 60 steers weighing 1400 lbs., and sold to Armour & Co., for $18.50. He also sold two steers out of his string for $22.00 per cwt., which is the highest priced beef ever sold on the St. Louis Market. Mr. Bledsoe has had his cattle on feed since last February and when interviewed Tuesday concerning the ration used in making his market toppers he said: "I used a ration of corn and Purina Molasses feed lightly on the grass until the last 70 days when I decided to increase the feed and I gave them all the molasses feed and corn they would eat until now. They gained well and the price was satisfactory. Mr. Bledsoe stated that he bought all his cattle in Audrain and said that they were simply a good quality string of feeders, nothing extra, which shows that he certainly knows how to bring a bunch of cattle out. Most of the steers were Short-horns and had down at home last winter. The cattle cost him right around $11.00. This string Tuesday will clean up his feedings. He marketed 200 head which he had following the cattle some time ago.—Live Stock Reporter.

T. J. Bates & Son shipped three car loads of cattle last week to the St. Louis market at that averaged 1425 lbs., bringing $12.35 per hundred.

A. H. Howison, three miles southwest of Carrington, sold a span of 3-year-old mare mules to John Guy, of Hereford, at stock sales day, for $600. He also sold a span of six-year-old horse mules to Mr. Gilmore, of Auxvasse, for $300.

Dr. M. O. Biggs of the Fulton State Hospital bought five spanking good mules in Fulton stock sales day and turned them at once to Buckner & Britt of Auxvasse, who are filling their feed pens and are anxious to get good ones. Dr. Biggs said the ones he sold them filled the bill. Dr. Biggs on Monday also received a team of mules that he purchased last week from Col. J. E. McKee of Curryville, Pike county. They were in a load that was delivered at Auxvasse and which Dr. Biggs had sold to Buckner & Britt. His team was then taken out and driven overland to Fulton. They will be used on the hospital farm. Dr. Biggs says they look like $1,000 mules to him when he gets them fed up and developed. They cost him quite a sum and he believes it is about the best team he ever had around the institution.—Fulton Gazette.

SYNOD CLOSES ITS SESSIONS THURSDAY

Has Successful Meeting in Mexico at Presbyterian Church Three Days of This Week

The Missouri Synod of the Presbyterian church of the United States closed its sessions here Thursday evening. Many state leaders in the church and many from other states appeared on the program and big problems of the day, as relating to the church, were discussed. There were about eighty out-of-town persons in attendance, and despite the fact that this was a smaller number than was expected, the meeting was a wide-awake and beneficial one. Many who would have attended were kept from doing so on account of the heavy rains recently.

Rev. T. M. Barbee of Palmyra was elected moderator of the Missouri Synod at the first session Wednesday. The Rev. J. W. Rowe, of St. Charles, was elected temporary clerk.

The second session of the Synod held Wednesday morning, was opened with devotional exercises, led by the Rev. C. J. Partridge, after which committees for the coming year were appointed. The Rev. W. R. Dobyns was elected Synod Representative with the Rev. C. R. Nisbit, alternative.

Reports from the various schools and colleges under the supervision of the Missouri Synod were read and approved, the following institutions being represented in the reports: Westminster College, the Orphanage at Fulton, Synodical College, School of the Ozarks, Kentucky Theological Seminary, which is partially under the direction of the Missouri Synod; and a report of the Women's Work was read also.

The Rev. Isaac F. Swallow, of the Synod of Alabama, was introduced to sit as corresponding member; and the Rev. A. W. Taylor and the Rev. F. B. Bachelor, representatives of the inter-church work, were introduced to sit as visiting brethren.

At 11 o'clock the Rev. Taylor talked on inter-church work, and after the noon recess the Rev. Bachelor spoke along the same line. During the afternoon session the Rev. Gilbert Glass was heard on "Systematic Benevolence and Stewardship."

The Rev. Glass, the Rev. Chas. Hemphill, of the Synod of Kentucky, and the Rev. Plummer Smith were introduced to sit as corresponding members.

A resolution was made by the Synod to advise all the churches to make an advance in the salary of their ministers of fifty per cent over what it was previous to 1914, if they had not already done so; and it was resolved to send a letter to this effect to be read at all the Sessions in Mississippi.

A resolution was also passed expressing profound solicitation for the President in his illness, and a hope expressed that he might soon be well. It was resolved to send notice of this action to the President.

The evening session Wednesday was opened by exercises lead by the Rev. Dr. Nisbit. Addresses were made by Dr. E. E. Hendrick and Dr. E. J. Abbott, on "The Call of Evangelism" and "Our Missouri" respectively.

Thursday morning an address was made by the Rev. Plummer Smith, of the Congo Mission, of Mutoto, on the Congo Belge. He told of the great work which is being done and which has been done by missionaries in Africa, explaining that, but for them, the natives would in all probability still be without a written language. He said that primers in that country sold for two cents and even then many could not indulge in one because that small amount represented to the natives a whole days work.

Some routine business was transacted Thursday morning and reports of some committees read and adopted. After adopting the report of the committee on the School of the Ozarks an appropriation of $2800 of legacies in the hands of the Home Missions Committee was made to the Board of Trustees of the School of the Ozarks to be used as thought best.

One of the things stressed in the meetings was the need for increased pay to ministers and missionaries, since the cost of living has gone up.

The last meeting of the Synod was held Thursday afternoon, at which time formal reports were read and business matters finished. The last thing to be done was the selection of the next place of meeting.

McMILLAN NEWS

By Mary McFarland

Chasie E. Crews, the Valedictorian of the class of 1909, who is now in the U. S. Embassy at Mexico City, Mexico, sent a collection of souvenirs for the trophy case left by the class of last year.

The list includes two opals, one orange colored, the other clear; three zarapes, and two pieces of drawn work that display fine workmanship. The blending of the colors in the zarapes, which reminds one of miniature rugs, is wonderful. There is also quite a number of pieces of pottery; a cup called guadajara; two small pitchers, a water jug; four saucers; two an inch in diameter, the other two larger; two water bottles of a reddish hue, with narrow necks, and four cups make a set; two vitrified vases that stand on the name "carino" on each, which sit on saucers, and have tiny plugs in the top. The baskets of different sizes, and woven in colors, are of decided interest. One is made of hair, the base of which is not more than one third inch in diameter. There is an Indian basket, in colors, and two others are woven.

Retiring From Business Sale

May 6, 1904 we opened up our little business on the west side of the square, known as the MEXICO VARIETY STORE, little knowing whether our efforts would meet with success or failure. To our good and true friends and customers who loyally patronized us for 15 years WE THANK YOU. We thank you all for the part you have played in making our business a success, but the time has arrived when we owe it to ourselves, to retire from business and take life a little more easy. With many regrets we announce this Retiring From Business Sale.

Five years ago we moved from the West Side of the Square to our present location in the new Morris Building on South Jefferson Street. This business has been built on the solid foundation of QUALITY MERCHANDISE and TRUE VALUE PRICES. YOU WHO KNOW US WELL KNOW THIS TO BE A FACT. Our present lease expires December 31st next. This stock of merchandise must be turned into cash in this short time. We have our fall stock of FALL and WINTER MERCHANDISE in and in transit—think of this—and prices will be made that will be of material benefit to you—regardless of the present highest of high prices prevailing this Fall and Winter.
